BAY AREA BACKPACK FUND RAISER @ RUBY TUESDAY

Bay Area Food Bank provides food insecure children with weekend meals through our Backpack Program. For a school to participate in the program it must have 50% or more of its students on free or reduced lunch. Each bag contains a variety of easy to prepare kid friendly items like: cereal, oatmeal, macaroni and cheese, granola bars, animal crackers, etc. Each bag contains 6 meals (2 breakfast, 2 lunches, 2 dinners and 2 snacks) the cost of each bag is $3.50. To feed a child for the school year (36 weeks) the cost is $126. Teachers identify students with chronic signs of hunger at the beginning of the year. These children receive the prepackaged bags in their own backpacks every Friday. The program is anonyms only the teachers know who is participating.

The Backpack Program is not federally funded. It relies solely on sponsors, donations and grants.

If a school is unsponsored the children who qualify for the program may not receive their weekend meals if funding is not available. There are currently 80 unsponsored children in Santa Rosa County. Hunger is all too real in our community. Over 8,000 children in Santa Rosa County do not know where there next meal is coming from. Without adequate nutrition children cannot learn and thrive. Many of the children that participate in the Backpack Program rely on the meals they receive at school as their primary source of nutrition. The Backpack Program helps to fill the hunger gap while they are out of school.

Ruby Tuesday's has accepted the Backpack Program as a Give Back Charity. When you bring in the attached flyer to participating locations (located on the bottom of the flyer) on the specified dates Ruby Tuesday's will donate 20% of the patron's bill to the Bay Area Food Bank's Backpack Program. SANTA ROSA COUNTY SWAT TO SPONSOR TOBACCO FREE FARM SHARE

Milton, FL - Santa Rosa County Students Working Against Tobacco (SWAT) will sponsor the First Annual Tobacco Free Farm Share event Saturday, November 16, from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at the Santa Rosa County Fair Grounds. The event is free, open to the public, and tobacco-free. Additional sponsors include the United Way of Santa Rosa County, Americorps of Florida, and the Department of Children and Families.

Registration will begin at 10:00 a.m. Participants will have the opportunity to visit with on site vendors offering educational materials on health and safety and will be entered into a drawing for one of several prizes. Music will be provided by Music by Matt.

Santa Rosa County residents with a valid photo ID will also be eligible for the free food and clothing distribution that will take place at the event. Supplies will be available for approximately 750 families in need, and distribution will be on a first come, first served basis. Proof of financial eligibility is not required.

"Conducting the Tobacco Free Farm Share will be a great way for SWAT to give back to the community," SWAT County Chair Magi Linscott said. "And by giving to those in need, we will all learn the true spirit of the Thanksgiving season."

SWAT was re-established in Santa Rosa County in 2007 and, currently, students from seven Santa Rosa County middle and high schools participate. "This group is committed to serving their community," said Robbie Leggett, tobacco prevention specialist with the Florida Department of Health in Santa Rosa County and advisor to the SWAT youth. "This is a great opportunity to bring together various community partners with a common goal of giving back to the community."

Mission Statement: Swat is Florida's statewide youth organization working to mobilize, educate and equip Florida youth to revolt against and de-glamorize Big Tobacco. SWAT is a united movement of empowered youth working towards a tobacco free future.

For more information on the Tobacco-Free Farm Share event, contact Robbie Leggett at 850-983-5200, ext. 310, or Julie Burger at 850-934-4074, ext. 142 or Julie_Burger@doh.state.fl.us.

Communication is Key

Effective emergency planning includes the needs of everyone, especially the elderly and those with access or functional needs. Many have specific needs that must be considered including hearing loss. If you or someone you know suffers from hearing loss, there are specific steps to take to ensure you can be quickly alerted when disaster strikes. Communication is key to your safety and those around you! Here are some ways to effectively communicate:

- Carry a pre-printed accommodation and access card that has your contact information as well as those who can be notified on your behalf. The card should also include key phrases that will help others communicate with you such as “I cannot hear sirens or alarms” and “I use American Sign Language and need an interpreter.”
- Get a NOAA weather radio with text or visual alerts. If you have a Twitter account you can also receive critical updates directly to your phone from FEMA and other emergency organizations with Twitter Alerts. Twitter Alerts are the fastest way to get essential information when you need it most.
- Before an emergency happens, sign up for the Special Needs Registry with your local emergency management service particularly if you live alone and might require special communication assistance. Do not rely only on the registry! Even if you sign up, be prepared to evacuate or shelter-in-place.

In a Twitter chat hosted by FEMA Region 7 on September 24, experts discussed disaster preparedness tips for those with access or functional needs. Follow #ALLReadyChat on Twitter to see the conversation and learn how to keep your loved ones safe.

Seasonal flu vaccine protects against strains of the illness most commonly circulating. It takes about two weeks after vaccination for the body to develop the antibodies that protect against the flu. The 2013-2014 vaccine offers protection against four types of flu, two Type A and two Type B. In addition to the flu shot, the Florida Department of Health in Santa Rosa County recommends these precautions:

- Wash hands frequently using soap and warm water. If soap and water are not available, use an alcohol based hand sanitizer.
- Cover coughs and sneezes. Cough or sneeze into a disposable tissue and throw the tissue away after use, or cough or sneeze into your elbow or sleeve.
- Stay home if you are experiencing flu like symptoms, such as fever, cough, sore throat, headache and muscle aches, and keep children with symptoms home from school or day care, until fever free for at least 24 hours without the use of fever reducing medication, except to seek medical care.

POLICY EVALUATION TOOLS FOR INJURY AND VIOLENCE PREVENTION

Please register for this meeting.

Meeting Description:

Policy strategies are paramount in addressing injury and violence prevention at a population-based level. Although policy has been used effectively in some areas of injury and violence prevention, there are some areas where the evidence base for policy strategies can be improved. Subsequently, policy evaluation can serve an important purpose along the entire chain of the policy process. In this webinar, the American Public Health Association and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's National Center for Injury Prevention and Control will discuss policy evaluation tools that can be used to assist with integrating policy into public health prevention efforts. Participants will also be exposed to state-level approaches to policy evaluation as showcased by experiences from Nebraska and Ohio. Register Now!
